How far should a bedside locker be from the bed?

Therefore it's essential to understand how your locker will interact and look in the available space. If your bedside locker holds items like a book or your phone, you'll want it placed at about 1 - 2 inches from your bed. If the locker holds a lamp or an ornament, it may look better placed away from the bed. - Quantity

How to choose a bedside locker?

But, of course, style is a personal preference. Choose a bedside locker that embodies your personality and is in keeping with your bedroom's decor for a cohesive and seamless flow. Lastly, quantity. You will need to decide on the number of lockers you might need. Again, this is dependent on the available space in your bedroom.

Do bedside lockers add value?

Bedside lockers are far more than just a prop when it comes to the overall look and feel of your bedroom. They add value through their functionality and style, and, most importantly, they help to make your day-to-day living more comfortable. They provide a luxurious statement piece, and they complement a bedroom of any size.

What if my locker is wedged between the wall and bed?

If your locker is wedged between the wall and bed, it could damage all of these items individually. In this case, you should try to find a narrow bedside table or just something a little smaller. What you use your bedside table for impacts the next two points, spacing and style.

Do bedside lockers have drawers?

As many bedside lockers have drawers, they promote excellent sleep hygiene. You can store your phone and electronic items safely away from your eye level as you settle down for a great night's sleep.

Should you buy a flat-pack bedside locker?

Suppose your home is decorated in the traditional style, i.e. heavily influenced by 18th and 19th European home design.
